ABSTRACT

The citations in this annotated bibliography of literature for young children cover many topics including aggression, feelings of ambivalence, anger, anxiety, loneliness, making friends, nightmares, perseverance, sibling rivalry, teasing, trust, values, and attitudes toward work. The books cited focus on aspects of children's emotional experience and are intended for children of up to 9 years of age. Ages for which each story is most appropriate are indicated for each of the 504 citations. (RH)
